

Anciently revered by royalty, frankincense was once considered to be more precious than gold. Frankincense oil is high in sesquiterpenes, which have been studied for their potential to go beyond the blood-brain barrier and to help oxygenate the pineal and pituitary glands. Frankincense has also been used for disinfecting, stimulating the immune system, and increasing spiritual awareness.

Steam distilled
from resin

Frankincense

Boswellia frereana

Frankincense

Pure Essential Oil
